

Technology & Medicine and it's Impact on Biotechnology

By helping us to me more productive, technology lets us spend less time focusing on survival, and more on solving other challenges.

Depending on whom you ask, the technology is either beneficial or has negative effects on health and environment.

If I could time travel into the future, my first port of call would be the point where medical technology is at its best because, like most people on this planet, I have this aversion to dying.

From phones to cars to medicine, technology touches every part of our lives. If you can create technology, you can change the world.
